SO WEARY.

Weary and worn out all the time. Back weak and lame and aching. Headache, Nervous, Restless, Excitable. The Kidneys are sick.

Doan's Kidney Pills

cure every symptom of Kidney Ills, from common backache to complicated urinary disorders.

Mrs. Mark Hyde, of 45 Thornley street, Pawtucket, R. I., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used by both my husband and two daughters, and the relief obtained in every case was very satisfactory. My husband was bothered off and on for a long time with pains across his back, which at times became very severe. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and procured a box from W. L. Wood's drug store. He used them, and in a very short time was rid of the backache. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand, and would not be without them."

CONSUMPTION

HEARTS By HALLIE ERMINE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by The Bowen-Merrill Company

"No, no. Not because they hate England as Louis does, but because they love France better than Louis, and to save her they must even risk to ruin him. There is more than one French king at stake—there is a dynasty! These are not the middle ages, monsieur. In these days the peoples are awakening. France, if she lives, must open her eyes. These men I tell you of would jolt her wide awake. They would have her smiths and her plowmen stop their toil to listen across the seas—to hear the guns of a people who would not be oppressed, to see royal mercenaries driven into the sea just by people like them. Then their murmur would be a roar. They would say, 'So can we do also!' Then the corrupt court would stand terror-stricken. And then at last there would be an end of the selling of titles, of the elegant bishops and the painted courtesses. France would put on purity again, and her king and her nobles would rule justly, and poverty would not stalk everywhere. These nobles of which I speak are loyal, monsieur. They love first France and then their king."

"Gentlemen," rose Jarrat's voice, "the hopen is just below. Will you come to the instant he did so Armand vaulted the rail where he stood, caught a rope, swung to a stanchion and landed as lightly as a cat at the side of the burly ruffian. The act was so clean, so graceful and so quick that none of the passengers could have told exactly how it was done.

The mate turned and, seeing him at his elbow, struck with all his strength at the other's head.

The stroke was one to stun, but it never reached home. The young foreigner bent one side, not moving his feet, with a motion that would have spoken volumes to an athlete, and the mate's fist banged against the bulkhead. While he staggered from this, Armand, seizing a rope's end as he circled, cut him across the face with such a slash that the blood ran from the gash.

Now ensued a strange combat. The mate, heavy and cumbersome, tried to reach the other with sledge hammer blows. The Frenchman, slight, wary, circling, retreating, slipped hither and thither. Three times in as many seconds that sibilant "swish" sang, and a red mark sprang out on the brutal face.

At each swing of the fist a sort of groan went up from the huddled redemptors, and at each cut they sucked in their breath with delight. It was a new, strange entertainment for them—to have a brain sick passenger descend from his clean deck to champion the cause of a scum.

The Virginian, looking down, was quivering visibly. As the passenger evaded a blow that would have crushed his ribs he could not forbear a shout: "Well done, by the Lord! But 'ware the clinch! 'Ware the clinch, monsieur!"

For the mate, though maddened out of himself, had shown a sudden gleam of purpose. He was forcing the secretary back into a corner between bulkhead and stanchion, not striking, but his burly arms now stretched out widely. Even as Cary shouted the arms gripped Armand like a vise, and the stinging rope's end, useless now, fell to the deck.

Over the upper rail the passengers ached, watching.

"A shame!" cried one. "That bloody brute will kill him out of hand!"

"Tis the clerk! Pshaw!" said the quartermaster. "He sides with the rabble. Let the rabble care for him!"

The woman who had been the unwitting cause of this struggle crouched back of the first sullenly intent rows, waiting, hugging her bundle. The others watched, guessing well what the issue would be, most of them accepting it as they had accepted the unspeakable fare, the curings and revivings of the crew, with that stolid acceptance which, brought about at last to this same condition.

The Virginian leaned down with vibrant hopelessness. He looked to see the secretary, vised and cracked in those arms, drop limp and senseless. As he looked he saw Armand's face, very white, turn up to him.

Then, like lightning, a wonderful thing happened. The young man's chin sank deep into the hollow of the other's shoulder; his arms went up about the muscles of the bulky back; like legs like wire went suddenly curling and twisting about the stocky ones. A moment of strained silence and a glaze of shocked surprise on the mate's slashed face, then—

Crack! The coil untwisted; the mate relaxed, tottered and fell to the deck.

There was at this time in France a curious science known as "La Savate." The Japanese have it under another name. It was first taught in the thieves' dens of Paris and was, to some extent, popularized by a clever rogue who earned freedom from the Bastille by teaching it to young officers of title. It was an art of leg fence, and by precisely the same twist and wring which a practiced swordsman uses to disarm an adversary, the blade in this case being bone and flesh, Armand had sent the mate's knee leaping from its socket.

To the majority of those who saw it this was perfectly incomprehensible. A gasp of wonder ran among the redemptors, and they laughed loudly at the mate's groan. The secretary had lost none of his alertness, though he was breathing hard. He sprang at the stanchion, clearly intending to return to the upper deck by the way he had come.

But he was too late. The mate's sailors rushed upon him.

Cary, shaking with excitement, sent out a cry.

"By Harry!" he shouted to the passengers about him. "Shall we see him that fought so heat like a dog? Are we poltroons, all?"

He leaped the rail, but before he could reach the lower level aid came to Armand, so hard beset. The skipper dived into the circle on a run, an evil light in his eyes and a marine spike in his hand. He knocked the foremost senseless, and the rest scattered.

"Curse ye!" he belted. "Set on a passenger, ye dogfish! By the devil, I'll mizen ye naked! Get to work and take this away!" he commanded, jerking a thumb at the mate who sat up nursing his knee.

The woman, still holding the bundle, had pressed to the secretary's side and was pouring out a torrent of grateful incoherencies. Master Elves began cursing her with vigor, but Armand touched his arm.

"The babe is dead," he said. "Your mate would have cast it overboard. I ask for the mother a twelve hours' time. If we do not sight land by then I will ask no more."

But land was not to be seen that day. Next morning came—the secretary's fight had been in vain. Then there was another gathering to the forward rail of the upper deck.

This was to watch the young Frenchman sitting among the redemptors, sewing a round shot carefully into the foot of a white silk bundle the size of a babe. The mother, now with empty arms, trailed her long hair and sat, red-eyed, sodden with weeping, beside him. This done, he stitched over the silk neckerchief a clean canvas and last of all sewed to its top a tiny gold cross which he took from his pocket. The bundle, held now by willing hands, was laid on a little board whose end projected over the rail, and then Armand, with bared head, took his stand beside it, and they heard his voice repeating part of the Huguenot service for the dead.

Few understood the words, for they were French, but all grasped their meaning. The fresh cheeks of the girls were wet with tears. The toilers' scamed faces were pitiful. Even the crime smirched ones were softer. And the mother was satisfied. Had not her child been blessed? To her none but a priest could perform such a rite, and Armand, though wearing no cassock, was yet in some mysterious way a priest.

So are we all His ministers!

CHAPTER III.

THE Yorktown wharf was a fair sight to the passengers of the Two Sisters as the ship swung to her moorings. Beyond the yellow clay bank the shore gloved in a violet green dazle of foliage, a flame of amethyst and pink, and over all the sun hung hazy, like some splendid dream rose, strewn its petals upon a bay of tinted glass.

The bank behind the wharf was a fringe of negroes, their vacant minded happiness shaking out laughter as wind shakes blossoms from a locust tree. The gay colored turbans bobbed like variegated poppies on a breezy day. The planking below was sprinkled with town folk, and on the road behind it

Mrs. Mary Towle has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. M. E. Holmes at Kezar Falls, two or three weeks. She has been sick but is better and returned home.

Joseph Douglas is running his mill on full time with plenty of water. He intends to put in a steam engine soon as he is short of water during the summer season.

Our Good Friday came with snow and rain and an east wind. Old people say that Good Friday rules the next forty days and if it is so our spring will be rather backward.

Herbert Weeks returned home April 1 from Dover, N. H., where he has worked the last year and is visiting his mother, Mrs. Olive Weeks, and brother. He will spend but a few days with them, and returns to his work April 14.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Fell Into a Well.

Hugh Smart recently lost a horse. He fell into a well just back of his barn. Mr. Smart having recently moved to the place, was not aware that there was a well in that place. The horse was alive when found, but as he feared he could not draw him from the well alive, or without much injury, he decided to shoot him. It was the sorrel horse he has had for some time.

Albert Brown is repairing Henry Kimball's house.

Mrs. Porter Gibbs is reported not as well as usual.

Elden Willard has been sick, but is reported improving.

Warren Kneeland has charge of the town farm this year.

"Have you been April fooled?" Your correspondent received a letter on the 1st day of April containing only a blank sheet of paper, no writing whatever.

There were Easter services last Sunday at the hall. The sermon was truly good and impressive, the theme being the passion and resurrection of Christ. Comparison was drawn between the life work and sacrifice of the crucified and risen Saviour and that of His followers as Christians. Very sweet music by the choir, with Annie Atherton organist, "The Resurrection." "Christ is Risen and others were sung. There was a large assembly representing the different churches.

Honder, who has occupied this room this winter, will break up housekeeping this spring, as he and his wife intend to go to Massachusetts this summer. After Mrs. Mooney has made some repairs on her house, it will be occupied as one rent by L. B. Swan.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Stephen Farrington.

After years of painful illness, accompanied with seasons of mental aberration, Stephen Farrington died at his home in West Fryeburg, Wednesday, March 30, at 10 a. m., aged sixty-six years, eleven months.

During one of the periods of mental lapse, the safety of the household required temporary removal to an asylum, and he was under treatment at the hospital at Augusta for some months until about a year ago, when greatly enfeebled, he was borne to his home, where he has received the most devoted and efficient care of a faithful and loving wife and family. He was a man of keen intelligence, rare good judgment and a moral character above reproach. Having convictions and the courage of them, he might forfeit a friendship rather than renounce a principle, yet those who knew Mr. Farrington best accorded to him the sincerest and most ardent esteem.

In his departure his townsmen lose a good citizen and neighbor, and his family a kind and indulgent husband and father, and his sisters a loyal affectionate brother.

Mrs. Annie (Stickney) Farrington, his wife, one son, Willis M. Farrington, and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Emery of Lovell and Mrs. Howard Woodward of East Conway, N. H., and the immediate family and three sisters, Mrs. Shuah Walker Lewis, Betsey E. Farrington and Mrs. Sarah Wiley of Peabody, Mass., are the surviving members of the family of Caleb K. Farrington.

Funeral services were held at the Farrington family homestead, Saturday, April 2, at 10 a. m., and a large representation of the friends of the deceased was in attendance, despite the unfavorable weather and bad traveling.

Rev. B. N. Stone of Fryeburg was the officiating clergyman, and undertaker H. A. Hodson was in charge. The bearers were near and lifelong friends and neighbors, and were Frank Eastman, Dean A. Ballard, James H. Hardy and B. Walker McKee.

Interment was in the cemetery at West Fryeburg in the family lot, where other generations of this, one of the oldest and most respected families of Fryeburg, repose.

Two removals within a week from this section, the families of Phineas Seavey and Mr. and Mrs. Walden McIntire, the former assuming charge of affairs at the town farm, and Mr. and Mrs. McIntire to a lately purchased home in Fryeburg village. These, with the recent removal by death of Charles Lewis and Stephen Farrington, make a sad gap in our neighborhood numbers and usefulness.

SOUTH HIRAM.

Broke His Right Leg.

George Milliken of this place met with a serious accident, March 21st, breaking his right leg between the knee and thigh by being caught between the wharfing and a log on the mill carriage. It is a bad time for him to be laid up as so many people have been hauling lumber to his mill since December. He had just commenced to saw when he met with the accident.

He is a man highly esteemed and respected in this community, having been just elected one of the selectmen of this town for the 4th term in succession, which is the only case on record.

Jacob Champion lost a fine horse last week.

Fred S. Libby has a lamb 2 months old that weighs 60 pounds.

Seth Spring has bought a fine horse of Merrill of North Road, Parsonsfield.

Mrs. Rose Allen nee Chapman returns to her home in Pennsylvania, the 5th.

Frank Gilpatrick has sold his horse "Nancy Hanks" to Edward Lord of Portland.

Stearns Bros. have just bought the Monroe French mare "Red Bird." She is a good one.

Mrs. William Parker has sold her buildings to Frank Sargent and she has moved into Joseph Parker's house with the intention of enlarging it for living and store purposes.

Francis Gilpatrick and Clarence Porteous have just finished their large tract of cutting and hauling pine and hemlock timber, 1,075,000 feet to the steam mill and to the river at Hiram Falls. To cut and haul this amount of timber 8 men cut and sawed for the teams of 12 horses and 8 cattle with their drivers of 8 men, and struggle to say not a man or beast met with an accident. Besides this Francis Gilpatrick has hauled a large amount of pine timber from the Small Bros.' land, which is near Eben Gilpatrick's farm, to the bank of the Ossipee river and a large amount of peeled poplar to Cornish R. R. station.

Mr. Gilpatrick is a smart, enterprising young man of this town, who has just been elected to the office of road commissioner for the 3d year in succession.

WEST BETHEL.

Been Here and Gone.

The Oregon Medicine Company occupied Bell's hall during last week both days and evenings. Mr. Story is manager with Mrs. Collier Story lecturer on the remedies, of which they had a large variety, selling quite a good quantity. The day time was occupied in selling their remedies to all who called for them and in the evening they gave a very entertaining show, which was enjoyed by a good crowd almost every night. It consisted of pictures thrown on curtain, of comedies, and music in which the blind man, Lute Snelling, took part by singing and playing the organ, which was fine and highly spoken of by those who heard him. These people while here appeared to be fine, very quiet and attending strictly to their business, dealt honestly with their patrons and left no hard feelings between any one when they left.

Myron E. Potter is sick with la grippe. Grace Farwell has been quite with a cold.

G. H. Goodnow went to Norway one day recently.

Wedding Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Fenwick gave a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Learned. Only relatives and intimate friends were invited. They had many useful and valuable presents. The company were served with a nice supper and treat.

The bridal couple left next morning for their future home at Wilson's Mills, with best wishes of their many friends.

Mrs. Lizzie Rice.

More than a passing notice should be given the memory of Mrs. Lizzie (Greene) Rice, who passed to the other life, Wednesday, Mar. 23.

She was emphatically a Waterford woman, the daughter of Thomas and Eliza (Kimball) Greene. The blood of two of the oldest and most respectable Waterford families was in her veins, and in a remarkable degree the best characteristics of each were seen in her life.

In early life she was united in marriage to Chas. H. Rice and since has lived at the homestead farm on the north side of Rice Hill. Uniting in her young womanhood with the Congregational church at North Waterford, she has ever been a devoted and sincere follower of the great Master. An ornament to the society in which she moved, her loss will be deeply felt, both in the church and out of it.

John G. Everett is quite sick with pneumonia.

Wm. E. Stone and Fred Johnson are busy in their sap orchards.

W. V. Kneeland has moved to the town farm to take charge for the year.

W. C. Goodwin and wife have gone to live with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Stevens.

Mary Rounds is at home from her school in Milton, Mass., for a short vacation.

Walter Shaw has closed a year's work at Mrs. Atherton's and Walter Adams takes his place.

Lawrence Knight is working up Mr. Perry's wood pile and Will Abbott is fitting Mrs. Plummer's in shape for the stove.

The many friends of Dr. Harry W. Watson will be pleased to learn that he has received the appointment of Inspector of animals in the city of Haverhill, Mass.

WEST SUMNER.

Mrs. Mary Reath.

Mrs. Mary (Berry) Heath passed away March 18th, at the advanced age of 88 years, 9 months, 9 days. She was the widow of Hiram Heath and daughter of William and Deborah (Drake) Berry of Paris. Only one of her six children survives her, Mrs. Rosetta H. Ryerson, with whom she lived and was kindly cared for for many years. She leaves five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and two brothers, Zerl Berry of Foxboro, Mass., and George Berry of West Paris.

She joined the Baptist church at North Paris when only 17 years old. In 1888 she united with the Baptist church in the place, always remaining a faithful member. An abiding friend speaking of her in a letter says "a saint at rest," truly spoken. Aunt Mary, as she was familiarly called, retained her mental faculties to the last. She was interesting to converse with and always had a smile and a word of welcome for every one. She is much missed not only by the family but by her neighbors and friends, but our loss is her gain.

Funeral at the Baptist church, the 21st, Rev. Mr. Bishop officiating.

Mrs. Hannah Bates is still improving. Mrs. Miriam Rowe is very low, if living.

William Abbott is very sick, also Oliver Bonney.

Fannie Maxim is very much worse. Her mind seems affected.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Tobin visited at Freeman Farrar's recently.

Morris Farrar from Gilbertville is visiting his uncle, Freeman Farrar.

George West had a relapse and came very near having pneumonia but is better.

F. R. McLaughlin has a new boat, Rangeley model, which came from Dixfield.

Capt. Small does not seem to gain very fast but hopes to see him soon get out on the ground.

Mrs. E. C. Doble has runrounds on two fingers of her right hand which have been very painful.

A goodly number went from here to the auction of Pearl Crawford in North Paris, last Tuesday.

W. S. Field, teacher in Brookline, Mass., is with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Field. His brother, Walter Field, from Dixfield, is with them.

Mrs. Cynthia Bisbee made a very handsome silk log cabin couch cover, which she sold by tickets. Mrs. Kate S. Jodrie of West Paris was the lucky one. The number which drew it was 80. Mrs. Bisbee is now making many lovely may-baskets.

Closing Out Sale of Jewelry

I shall sell at cost for the next 10 days everything in my Jewelry Department. I have a large line of all kinds of Jewelry and have decided to sell at cost to reduce stock. These are all new and up-to-date goods in every way. Some are high grade, fully warranted, some are cheap but we will sell at cost as we have a one stock, and shall close it out cheap. Anyone in need of anything in the Jewelry line will do well to call and get our prices.

Ladies' Watches

We have on hand several high grade Elgin and Waltham watches, regular price $15.00, $20.00, $25.00. Our price for this sale is $10.75, $16.00, $18.00. I have several other low grade watches I shall sell at very low figures.

Watch Guards

This is a chance of a lifetime to get high grade watch-guard at a very low figure, double chains, vest chains, etc., in many styles and kinds.

Gents' Watches

All kinds, ranging in price from $1.50 to $15.00 each. All will go at cost, and there are some fine trades. Those wanting a watch should give me a call.

Brooches

This line is complete in every way. Many good styles and kinds and a chance to buy as the price will be very low on our best grade of pins.

Silver Knives, Forks

I have a few of Roger Bros' silver knives and forks I shall sell at cost, also another cheap grade of goods that I shall sell for $1.00 per dozen.

Rings

Band rings, all kinds, some high grade stone rings, solid and filled, all sizes. We have a large variety of these and a good lot to choose from.

The above goods warranted and all perfectly new and up-to-date goods, and this is the chance of a lifetime to buy Jewelry at these very low prices. We must just what we say and will have everything marked plain so every one can see just what they are buying.

Come early and have a good chance to buy before the best numbers are taken.

Yours very truly,

F. H. BECK
